FRA PRESIDENT

Again this year, yours truly along with Cindy Monroe, Marilyn Olson, and Lisa Kenyon went to Decorah, to learn three knitting techniques: Domino knitting, Mosaic knitting, and Shadow (sometimes called Illusion) knitting. Our instructor Arnhild Hillesland (a gifted Norwegian designer and teacher from Ames) guided us through these techniques. See the photo of Arnhild's Mosaic afghan. Laurann Gilbertson, curator of the Vesterheim Museum, gave us a tour of treasured Norwegian-American knitted pieces from their museum archives (pieces not currently on display). The photo of the hat (from the archives) is an example of colorwork from early 1900's. In November, our nominating committee will be looking for members to join the board. This is a great group of people to work with so let one of us know if you are interested. We will be having elections at a later meeting. We are having Lekepllass at 5:30 pm Tuesday November 13 when we will be making decorative votive candles and the social meeting with program by Tom Næsse following at 7pm. Barbara

NEWS FROM NORWAY

Wooden Skyscraper Rises in Norway

If all goes according to plan, Mjøstårnet will become the world's tallest wooden skyscraper in March 2019. The 18-story high-rise is being built in Brumunddal, about 90 minutes north of Oslo. At 81 meters tall, the building will include apartments, a hotel, a restaurant, offices and common areas. Up until 1997, buildings taller than three stories were not allowed to be made of timber in Norway. A fire devastated the city of Ålesund in the early 1900s. This new building is not in jeopardy of causing the next major fire. Because of the use of glue laminated timber, it is safer than most buildings in Norway when it comes to fire safety. The use of this glue doesn't allow the beams to burn the way traditional wooden beams do. They simply form a layer of charcoal which stops the fire from spreading and helps keep the structure intact.

Other news: The national budget negotiations are in full swing.

A NATO training maneuver, Trident Juncture, started in late October in and around Norway. For the first time it will include a US aircraft carrier – USS Harry Truman. A total of 51,000 will participate.
